7. Teaching methods

The following methods of teaching foreign students are aimed at achieving educational goals:

- conscious-practical (the leading method of teaching foreign languages, because, on the one hand, during practical classes, students become aware of the language forms necessary for communication; on the other hand, language material is mastered through foreign language speech activities);

- explanatory and illustrative (used to teach and learn new educational material, facts, approaches, assessments, conclusions, etc.);

- productive (for students to apply the algorithm learnt on the basis of a model or rule, which corresponds to the instructions, rules, in situations similar to the model presented);

- the method of problem-based teaching (using various sources and means, in teaching foreign students, the teacher poses a problem, formulates cognitive tasks, and then, revealing the system of proofs, comparing views, different approaches, shows ways to solve the task; in this way, students become accomplices in scientific research);

- partially searching or heuristic method (in the organisation of active search for solutions to cognitive tasks put forward by the teacher (or independently formulated under the guidance of the teacher, based on heuristic programs and instructions). The thinking process becomes productive, but it is gradually guided and controlled by the teacher/students themselves in working with textbooks and computer programs. This method, one of the varieties of which is a heuristic conversation, is an effective way to activate thinking and encourage cognition);

- research method (after analysing the material, setting problems and tasks and brief oral or written instructions from the teacher, students independently study literature, sources, conduct observations and perform other search activities. Initiative, independence, and creative search are most fully manifested in research activities. Methods of educational work are directly transferred to methods that imitate and then implement scientific research).

8. Control methods

Routine control is carried out at each lesson. It helps to check the level of skills and abilities in all types of speech activities.

Students are assessed (in written and oral form) at the end of the 3rd semester.
